SEMINAR DETAILS

Our seminars introduce and explain silicate mineral paints which are environmentally friendly, sustainable, protective and decorative surface coatings and how they provide a wide range of solutions to common problems associated with conventional film forming acrylic coatings in addition to being highly decorative. Keim Mineral Paints give specifiers confidence in the longevity of decoration and can be used in restoration, conservation, new build and re-decoration projects. There are a wide range of materials available, from essential surface pre-treatments/primers, to complete paint finishes.

Our seminars usually last between 45 – 60 minutes and we ask for access approximately 30 minutes before to allow time to set up equipment and presentation materials. We would be pleased to reimburse you for a buffet luncheon for those attending the seminar.
